

Suzi Lorraine is an actress, writer and model from New York City. She has appeared in over 40 independent feature films. Her acting career has allowed Suzi the opportunity to work all over the world, often in the horror genre which she adores. She has worked on movies filmed in the U.S., Italy, Canada, London, Germany, Argentina, Amsterdam, and the British Virgin Islands, to name a few. She was honored by fans in Torino, Italy during "Suzi Lorraine Night" at the Empire Theatre. Several of Suzi's films screened that evening, as part of a Suzi Lorraine film retrospective. She loves travelling, and is stoked to have the opportunity to travel extensively for work.

On top of a non-stop acting schedule, Suzi still finds time to attend a number of memorabilia and autograph conventions and is always a hit with her legion of fans.

She has also been interviewed and featured in GQ, Esquire Turkey, FHM, Filmmaker Magazine, Marquis Magazine, and Varla Magazine. Her print and commercial work including ads for Nike, Mercedes, Electric Lingerie, Tosca Olive Oil, All the Rage jewelry, and numerous swimsuit catalogs and music videos.

Suzi has been a staff writer for Gorezone Magazine (based in London) for the past 4 years. She writes a "Diary of A Scream Queen" column for this popular genre magazine, which has steady monthly sales of 90,000 issues per month. Suzi was honored to co-host the 2nd Annual Gorezone Weekend of Horrors Film Festival in October 2009 in London.

She is drawn in particular to the horror genre, but has a deep affinity for comedy as well. "I've always been attracted to that kind of stuff – I grew up on horror movies and to this day it remains one of my favorite film genres. I love roles where I play the antagonist, and have the opportunity to be totally over the top and larger than life. Even more appealing are roles that allow me to fuse horror with comedy, as I have a fairly quirky and offbeat sense of humor. Black comedy genre films, such as "Evil Dead" and "Basket Case" inspire Suzi to this day, as does her love and admiration of shock rock legend Alice Cooper.

Check her out in "Won Ton Baby!", "Destined to be Ingested", "Bikini Girls on Ice", "The Night They Returned", "Torment", "She Demons of the Black Sun", "Sea of Dust", and "Rise of the Ghosts".

Her other acting credits include a performance opposite Hugh Grant in Warner Brothers "Music and Lyrics", a day player role on "Parco PI" (TV series on Court TV), "Knock Knock" with Ariola Productions, "RECON 2022" with Movie Seals Productions, and "Cold Blonded Murder" with SVBI Films.

Suzi also delighted at the great opportunity to co-host several "MonsterFest/Horror Department" episodes for the AMC channel last October.

She is currently working behind the camera for the first time, having recently completed the horror/comedy feature film entitled "Won Ton Baby!", about a whimsical Asian devil baby who goes on a killing rampage. Suzi created the story idea, and also co-produced the film. www.wonton-baby.com

In her free time, she enjoys traveling, music, yoga, hiking, spending time w/ friends and family, gardening, reading, horseback riding, swimming, theatre, movies, sleeping, working out, and collecting Alice Cooper memorabilia.
